

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A container is adapted to taste of nursling with containing tissue papers or the like, and adapted to age of the nursling.

- 5 The container is formed with a container body defining a receptacle portion receiving therein a content and opening at an upper edge thereof, and a lid body engaged with the opening upper edge of the container in a condition closing the opening upper edge of the container. A toy member is attached to at
- 10 least one of the container body and the lid body.